A list of COVID-19 Testing Sites in the link

<https://www.co.fresno.ca.us/departments/public-health/covid-19/covid-19-testing-sites>

- First, call your primary care doctor. Fresno County Interim Health Officer Dr. Rais Vohra said that most primary care physicians should start testing their patients. Some may have varying requirements and limited supply of tests. You will likely need to make an appointment to get tested at your regular doctor's office.
- If your doctor is unable to test you, or you don't have a doctor or health insurance, you still have options.

Optumserve Testing Sites

- Fresno County is working with the state of California and many other organizations to provide free COVID-19 testing.
- The county has three state-run OptumServe testing sites and is slated to open more. The three existing sites are at Fresno City College, Sanger Community Center and West Fresno Regional Center.
- These testing sites require an appointment but do not require health insurance.
- They are free.
- When signing up online, you must fill out a brief questionnaire.
- To make an appointment, visit <https://lhi.care/covidtesting>
- Results from these sites generally come back within 48 to 72 hours, but when impacted results can take four to six days

RITE AID

- Rite Aid has partnered with Verily's The Baseline COVID-19 Program and California Department of Public Health.
- Testing at any Rite Aid site will not result in charges to your insurance carrier regardless of whether insurance information is collected.
- The test is free for anyone age 18 or over.

- If you get tested here, you must sign COVID-19 Public Health authorization form and lab consent. Eligibility is determined in coordination with local health officials. The screening questions provide information to public health authorities and help prioritize individuals for scheduling based on site capacity.
- First, you will create an account and fill out an online questionnaire to provide information to health officials and help prioritize people for scheduling based on location and capacity. If there is an available appointment, you will receive direction on how and where to get tested.
- Visit <https://www.projectbaseline.com/study/covid-19/> to get started.
- Once tested, you'll be notified via email or phone that your results are available. Results should be available within one to three days, but depending on capacity, it could be longer.

Rite Aid locations offering COVID-19 testing include:

- 1101 Fresno St. in Fresno
- 3795 W. Shields Ave. in Fresno

UCSF EQUITY PROJECT

- UCSF Fresno partnered with a number of community organizations to provide COVID-19 testing and other health screenings to underserved areas in the city of Fresno. The groups involved support patients through the testing process, contact tracing and other areas through recovery.
- Testing is free and insurance is not required.
- Patients will receive two tests: a rapid test in which results are ready within 30 minutes and a test that must be processed in a lab. The rapid test misses one in six COVID-19 positive patients. The test that is processed in the lab is considered the most reliable test.
- Testing hours are subject to change and supplies are limited. Most tests occur outside. Masks must be worn and social distancing is required.
- The clinic is located at 2630 E. Weldon Ave. in Fresno.
